Clerk's comments draw candidate's fire

Actions of incumbent Plymouth Township Clerk Nancy Conzelman have been criticized as instrumental in the lawsuit that removed two candidates from the upcoming primary ballot in that community.

During the League of Women Voters candidate forum last Thursday at the Plymouth District Library, Conzelman admitted that she had advised and aided some candidates with their political filings while disregarding others. Two candidates Conzelman publicly opposes, State Rep. Kurt Heise who is challenging incumbent Supervisor Shannon Price, and Don Schnettler, seeking a term as a board trustee, failed to indicate the precinct number in which they vote on their affidavits of identity, paperwork that is usually reviewed by the municipal clerk prior to submitting it to Wayne County for inclusion on the ballot. Conzelman signed the paperwork submitted by Heise and Schnettler as "received by" but did not complete the "reviewed by" blank on the paperwork. Challenger Jerry Vorva, seeking to replace Conzelman as clerk, said her

All in the family

3rd generation joins 37th annual Art In The Park

The youngest members of the Art In The Park family don't hesitate to express their opinions about ideas others on the management team may suggest.

For instance, the bright green shirts the volunteers at the event are wearing this year could have been a far less appealing color without the input of Lily Rork, 10, and her brother, Dylan, 13.

"If I have a bad idea, they don't hesitate to let me know," said Raychel Rork, president of Art In The Park. She followed in the footsteps of her mother, Dianne Quinn, and has managed and supervised the event for two years. Quinn, who founded Art In The Park 36 years ago with a small gathering of artists in Kellogg Park, retired and left the top job to Rork. Quinn said she had absolute confidence in Rork, who has attended every single one of the past 36 festivals, learning how to perform each of the myriad of tasks involved with producing one of the largest art festivals in the state.

"There is a lot to it," Rork admitted. "A lot of things that most people never think about."

Rork said her children have been absorbing the details of event management since they were born as the conversations between her and their grandmother quite often involve aspects of the event.

At a recent athletic tournament for her son, Rork said she was as busy taking photos of the arrangement of some public amenities as she was taking photos of him on the field.

"They both know we are always looking for ideas for Art In The Park," Rork said

"They've been listening to this stuff forever."

This year, Lily was on the streets downtown helping her mother measure and mark off booth locations, making sure every artist got the correct space and that the exhibit tents were assigned to the correct places. Lily even "hired" a performer she spotted to entertain crowds last year.

"They really can't not be involved," Rork said, "this is such a part of our life."

The entire family, including Quinn, will be on hand for the weekend, Rork said, wearing the "nice green shirts."

The most important change to the event this year, Rork said, is the new locations for the shuttle service. Visitors are encouraged to take advantage of acres of parking at Madonna University, 36600 Schoolcraft Road in Livonia or the Burroughs facility at the corner of Haggerty and Plymouth roads and use the shuttle. The shuttle service is sponsored by St. John Providence.

"It really is the very best way to see the festival," Rork said, "and the buses run continuously all weekend."

The entertainers that crowds have come to expect will be returning this year along with another performance from students at the violin studio of Sharon Rothstein, M.B. M.P.H. The children will perform a variety of classical violin pieces to collect donations for the Children's Chamber Music Education Fund.

Art In The Park founder Dianne Quinn, President Raychel Rork and advisor Lily Rork always find time to enjoy Art In The Park.

Copper necklaces and other jewelry by artist Katherine Lewis of West Nyack, N.Y. will be on display and for sale in booth 325.

Annie Boyer of Redford will have her hand made leather moccasins on display and for sale at booth number 221 during the art event this year.

Joe Mazzola of Detroit will have his upcycled sculptures and his vintage wristbands customized with brass and bronze grommets for sale this year in booth 304.

Joe and Dylan Rork will be on hand again this year at Art In The Park.

Rain predictions welcomed by area fire officials

Predicted rain in the area was welcomed by residents and by local fire officials this week. The lack of rain recently prompted a warning from local and state fire officials last week, just as communities and residents were preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July holiday.

The unusually dry conditions increased the risk of fire from traditional outdoor activities, officials said and warned that charcoal grills, fire pits, discarded smoking materials and fireworks all pose a greater risk this year, because of the dry vegetation produced by lower than average rainfall.

Both the Northville Community Fire Department, which serves the cities of Northville and Plymouth, and officials from the Canton

Parkour lessons offered

James Bond scaled cranes, jumped from landing to landing and danced with danger in Casino Royale.

Local participants can learn to emulate Bond's moves tomorrow, July 8, when instructors from Phoenix Freerunning Academy visit the Canton Public Library. Staff members from the academy will instruct guests, ages 7 and older, on all aspects of movement with an emphasis on parkour and freerunning. Eric Zimmerman, of Phoenix Freerunning Academy, believes that parkour can be more easily understood through demonstration than by definition.

"Parkour is all about efficiency and getting from point A to point B in the safest, quickest and most efficient way possible, navigating obstacles along the way," Zimmerman said.

Zimmerman and the team will explain a brief history of parkour and freerunning in addition to explaining what Phoenix Freerunning Academy is and what the school offers as the only gym designed specifically for parkour and freerunning in Michigan.

The parkour and freerunning program will take place from 2-3:30 July 8 in the Community Room at the Canton Public Library, 1200 S. Canton Center Road. For more information, visit the library online at www.cantonpl.org or call (734) 397-0999.

Township Fire department urged residents to exercise caution and be extra vigilant this year.

Canton officials issued a ban on all outdoor fireworks due to the "drought-like" conditions.

"Fireworks can be hazardous even in the best of times." said Northville Fire Chief Steve Ott. "But with the lack of rain so far this summer, there is an increased risk of fires when hot debris from fireworks land in parched vegetation or piles of yard waste," he added.

Deputy Canton Fire Chief Chris Stoecklein also warned residents about the use of barbecue grills, outdoor fire pits and fireworks in the current weather conditions.

A structure fire June 25 at Meadowood Townhomes is believed to have been caused by a cigarette that was discarded in landscaping mulch. The mulch, fire officials said, most likely smoldered before igniting and then burning rapidly. The blaze quickly spread to the clubhouse building and caused an estimated $150,000 in damage.

"I cannot stress enough the importance of having working smoke detectors in your home," said Stoecklein. "Unfortunately, residents do not have the same opportunity to be alerted to fires starting outdoors, and often they go undetected until the fire is causing significant damage to property," he added.

Precautionary fire safety tips to enjoy outdoor activities include:

*Charcoal grills should be started only with approved charcoal starter fluid. Never add additional starter fluid, or any other flammable liquid, once the fire is going.

*Place grills away from structures, and make sure the coals are completely out when done. Douse any coals with water before discarding.

*Fire pits should be contained, clear of vegetation and covered with a mesh cap to reduce the spread of embers. Keep a bucket of water or a hose nearby, and be sure to extinguish the fire completely before leaving the area.

*Cigars, cigarettes and other smoking materials should be disposed of in fireproof containers. A discarded cigarette can easily start a fire in dry grass or landscape mulch as happened in Canton.

*If using fireworks, remember that even simple items such as sparklers burn very hot. Use caution, and douse used fireworks in a bucket of water when finished.

*Keep control of any fireworks and know where they are going. Keep an eye out for the debris, and any fires that may result.

Additional questions regarding ordinances specific to fireworks and fire pit use in Canton should be directed to the Fire Prevention Unit at (734) 394-5456.

Motion carried by all members present. 6:00 P.M: PRESENTATION – REGIONAL TRANSIT AUTHORITY MASTER PLAN Michael G. Ford, Chief Executive Officer – Regional Transit Authority of Southeast Michigan presented the regional action plan for connecting the 4 counties of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw by providing services where none exist currently. July 21, 2016 the proposal will be presented to his board and the goal is to have the proposal on the November 2016 ballot. Mr. Ford introduced Benjamin Stupka – Manager of Planning and Financial Analysis - Regional Transit Authority of Southeast Michigan who gave the following outline: 1. 20 Year Plan 2. Proposes a 1.2 Mill Property Tax Increase throughout the region (4 counties) 3. Vote will be by popular-vote combining all 4 counties 4. No "Opt-Out" option 5. The Plan will require updating every year. 6. 85% of the tax dollars obtained are required to be returned to the county they came from in the form of operating subsidy or capital projects. This will be reviewed each year. Exist providers are: DDOT, SMART in the suburban areas, and AAATA – and plan has these entities working together with RTA. A key piece of the program is Bus Rapid Transit operating in a dedicated bus lane. They are also working on an Express Service connecting Ann Arbor and Detroit – either along Michigan Avenue or I-94. There is a proposed a regional rail project connecting downtown Ann Arbor to downtown Detroit with 5 stops (Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Wayne, Dearborn, and Detroit). The Cross County Connectors proposed will be in connection with DDOT and SMART. Rather than requiring transferring busses by jurisdictional boundaries, the passenger would not be required to transfer between busses. RTA will work to upgrade the stations for accessibility improvements for seniors and the disabled. There would be 8 new routes where service is not currently available. Key to Canton would be a route along Michigan Avenue connecting Wayne and Ypsilanti. This service would run approximately every 30 – 60 minutes offering a local bus connection to provide continuous service. There would also be a Ford Road Connection routing through to Detroit and Ann Arbor. Airport Express service would be commuter express style with accommodations for luggage and connecting with Park and Ride lots. They are also working to create One-Click/One-Call service which will provide coordinated information on all the transportation providers in the area. They are also looking into late-night and off hours service offerings; Uber, Zip-Car, etc. types of services paired with the more traditional options in transportation. Another option is using smart-phone apps to prepay transportation charges. Approval of Minutes Motion by Bennett, supported by Williams to approve the Board Minutes of June 14, 2016 as presented. INKSTER - WESTLAND

Graduation day

Inkster students complete courses offered by Michigan State Police

Among the graduates from Inkster last week were: Thomas Allen; Ernest Bracy; Darion Brock; Alexander Brown; Edmond Dounamou; DyZek Flemming; Sterling Halimon; Martez Hunter; Gregory Joseph; John Lowe; Paul Lowe; Early McCullough; Antajuan Moore; Tyler Spencer; Jalen Starks and Jacob Toney.

At a ceremony at the Booker Dozier Recreation Center last week, 16 young men from Inkster graduated from the Michigan Youth Leadership Academy (MiYLA). The academy is designed to inspire teens to recognize their potential, be leaders and mentors in their communities and develop personal character through partnerships with law enforcement.

During academy classes, which took place at the Michigan State Police (MSP) Training Academy in Lansing, officers from the Michigan State Police and the Inkster Police Department served as mentors and classroom instructors. Lessons focused on the "keys for character," which include service, integrity, excellence, courtesy and pride, and the young men were taught how to apply these "keys" to their everyday lives in an effort to have a positive impact on their nation, state, community, schools, homes and personal lives, according to a statement from the state police office.

Areas of instruction included: physical activity, first aid, military drill, water safety, interview skills, leadership and other team and character building exercises. In addition, students were presented with training modules from the Teaching, Educating and Mentoring (T.E.A.M.) program on the topics of "Understanding Law Enforcement," "Violence has No Place in a Relationship," "The Law and You" and "Gangs and Violence." Students also received a presentation by the MSP Precision Driving Unit, a tour of the State Capitol and a visit to Michigan State University.

County Mud Day is next Tuesday at Hines Park site

Wayne County Parks is set to transform the Hines Park-Nankin Mills Area, located at 33175 Ann Arbor Trail, into a 75 by 150 foot giant mud pit next Tuesday, July 12.

From 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. children ages 12 and younger will have the opportunity to get down and dirty at one of the messiest playgrounds Southeast Michigan has ever seen.

"Mud Day brings me so much joy because I love to see kids having fun, playing in the mud. The best part of Mud Day is seeing who gets crowned King and Queen of the mud," said Director Beverly J. Watts. "This is a free event and I encourage families to come out and get messy with us."

Thousands of children, who will be separated into two age groups: ages 4 and younger and ages 5-12, will charge into the mud to participate in fun filled activities, such as mud limbo and wheelbarrow races. The 2016 King and Queen will be crowned after the games.

The Western Wayne Hazemat Team will be on site to help rinse the kids off at the end of the event. Parents are encouraged to bring towels. Plastic bags will be provided to ensure that all dirty clothes are properly contained for the trip home.

Sponsors for Mud Day include: ITC Holdings, Fox 2, Community Alliance Credit Union, Metro Charter Academy, Friends of Wayne County Parks, Western Wayne Hazmat Team and Team Schostak Family Restaurant.

Mud Day participants all look a bit like this young man when the games are complete.

admitted actions were "almost criminal" and told the assembled audience of about 100 residents that it is the job of the township clerk to assist and serve all the residents, not just those she may "favor."

During the question-and-answer period, one audience member submitted a question read by moderator Roberta Young, "Is it the responsibility of the township clerk to alert a candidate of a minor error on the application to run for public office? Why or why not?" The question elicited a murmur from informed audience members who were aware of Heise and Schnettler's omission of their precinct numbers and the subsequent court challenge to their candidacy.

Vorva who was first to answer, fired back, "Absolutely." He said candidate forms include a provision stating the documents have been reviewed and "…the person to review that is the clerk."

"In the instance you're talking about, the clerk failed to review it, didn't sign it, still she sent it to the county and then told the particular candidate that everything was fine. I think this is misfeasance. I think it's underhanded. I think it's terrible that it happened," Vorva said.

Conzelman responded that she disagreed with Vorva and that the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that it was the candidate's responsibility to correctly complete their paperwork including the affidavits of identity.

"There's a difference between the application that goes along with the petition and the affidavit of identity. The affidavit of identity is notarized when the candidate signs it. The candidate goes over it and if the candidate cannot fill in all the blanks, the candidate should not feel the clerk is the responsible person and should not be relying on someone else to check their input. There's a standard that specifically requires the review of the petitions. The affidavit of identity is a completely different document. One I did see, I did corrected (sic) it for some candidates. Wayne County corrected it in some candidates. Both of those candidates had the exact same amount of time to review their paperwork," Conzelman said.

Vorva, speaking out of turn, retorted sharply, "I'm outraged… she's correcting for other people. Who did you help, Price and Edwards?" His remark was a reference to incumbent candidates Price and Treasurer Ron Edwards.

"I helped Doroshewitz," Conzelman said, referring to incumbent Trustee Bob Doroshewitz who is seeking re-election.

Heise said after the meeting that he was going to seek legal counsel in response to Conzelman's disclosure that she had helped other candidates to ensure their paperwork was complete while not offering him the same consideration.

"It was absolutely stunning to hear Nancy Conzelman admit that she cherry-picked certain affidavits from candidates, assisting in correcting the mistakes they had made. This constitutes an abuse of power and denial of equal protection. I'm consulting my attorney about the civil and criminal remedies that may be available to me. I think this has shown that she can't be trusted to competently and fairly run the Aug. 2 election," Heise said.

Vorva agreed that Conzelman's comments were upsetting, but said he was not surprised.

"She took an oath of office to be the clerk for everyone. When you do this you have an obligation to assist people, to help people be registered voters and to help everyone and she's failed on every count. She's an attorney; she's an officer of the court. This kind of behavior is grounds for disbarment," Vorva, a former state representative and a former member of the Plymouth City Commission, stated.

Candidates also clashed regarding the new Plymouth Arts and Recreation Complex (PARC), incumbents claiming their failure to support the project is an effort to protect township taxpayers while other candidates claim that the township resolution forbidding any cooperation with the city on any issue is politically motivated and not in the best interest of residents.

Edwards, the main opponent of PARC and the instigator of the non-cooperation resolution, did not appear at this forum or at an earlier candidates' forum at PARC two weeks ago. Price, Conzelman and incumbent trustee candidate Mike Kelly also failed to appear at that earlier candidates' meeting.

"Ive already debated him (Heise) about PARC and the fire department and besides I thought Soenen was going to work with us and support us about things and now he's got all those signs on his lawn," Price said the day after the PARC forum. He said he thought the reason Edwards, Conzelman and Kelly also decided to boycott the PARC forum was, "I think they agreed with me on Soenen."

Former Wayne manager facing hit and run charges

Former Wayne City Manager Robert English, 60, entered a not guilty plea to charges he failed to stop at a personal injury accident at his arraignment in 29th District Court late last month.

English was released on bond and is scheduled for a pre-trial hearing on the misdemeanor charge before Judge Sandra Cicirelli at the 18th District Court in Westland July 14.

The Wayne County Prosecutor issued a warrant for English on the charges in early June although the incident took place just before 9 a.m. Jan. 27 in the area of Hoover Elementary School. Wayne police officers were called to the scene where witnesses reported a hit and run accident involving a 7-year-old child.

No explanation for the delay in charges was offered.

Witnesses told police at the time that a vehicle traveling south of Fourth Street struck the boy who was crossing the street just north of Stellwagon outside the marked crosswalk. Witnesses said that the driver of the vehicle, later identified as English, stopped, got out of the car and spoke with the child before getting back into the vehicle and dropping off another child at the school.

Police identified English who reportedly initially denied knowledge of striking the child. Wayne police sent the results of their investigation to the Wayne County Prosecutor and the warrant was issued nearly five months after the incident.

According to court records, this is the second time English has faced similar charges. He paid a total of $325 in fines and court costs after striking a parked car in September of 2014 in the Kroger parking lot in Westland. A witness supplied police with the license plate number and description of the vehicle that left the scene after that incident. Police later traced the car to English who was originally charged with leaving the scene of an accident. He entered a guilty plea to a reduced charge of failing to report an accident and paid the court costs and fine.

English resigned as Wayne City Manager in September of 2013.

"Last year, these kids just stopped everyone in place, they are so good," Rork said. "We are really looking forward to having them return."

The Plymouth District Library will also offer free activities during Art In The Park. Book lovers should look for the Storybook Walk, which will be found near the library. Visitors can enjoy the classic children's tale, The Little Red Hen by Paul Galdone - look for the red balloons. At 11 a.m. Saturday, the nationally recognized Wild Swan Theatre will present the play, Frog and Toad at the library. There is no admission for either event.

Once again, The Village Potters Guild will participate in Art In The Park as they have since 1995 when members first displayed their works in one small tent in Kellogg Park. This year, the Guild members will display their work in six tents at the corner of Forest and Ann Arbor Trail where they have been located for more than 17 Art In The Park events.

Rork said that this year, more than 400 artists will participate in the event and 100 of them are new to Art In The Park.

"The best part of this is being able to actually talk with the artists who will usually customize anything you want. And we have something for everyone, no matter what your taste may be," Rork added.

(A complete guide to Art In The Park is included in this edition of The Eagle.)

BELLEVILLE - ROMULUS

Safety concerns halt fire station lease

A plan to explore the possibility to lease a Romulus fire station for other uses is on hold-at least for now.

Members of the city council rescinded a resolution to explore the possibility of leasing out Fire Station #1 until they could attend a study session to look at the pros and cons of the concept.

Councilman William Wadsworth, who voted in favor of exploring the option two weeks ago, said he had reconsidered and was concerned about fire coverage on the west side of the city. He said it was clearly a safety issue and he had some concerns about the welfare of residents.

"If you live on the west side of the airport, you have to depend on the same truck to come out of the Eureka station and in a perfect scenario, without a train coming, it'll probably get to your house in seven or eight minutes," he said. "I think that's unacceptable."

City Clerk Ellen Craig Bragg, who sits on the city property disposition committee, said the idea had been raised and the committee members just wanted to solicit council approval before the concept went any further.

"Nothing was concrete. Someone had expressed an interest, and before they even discussed it they wanted to make sure that it came through the council first," she said. "Nothing has been decided. They're just talking about it."

> If you live on the west side of the airport, you have to depend on the same truck to come out of the Eureka station...

Mayor Leroy Burcroff said the city had good fire protection through its own department as well as three different mutual aid agreements with the downriver communities, western Wayne and the airport authority. Fire Station 1 was manned by paid on-call firefighters; they would respond to the station and then head out to the scene.

"We an actually respond with full-time, 24-hour service from Eureka Road and service those calls better," he said. It's difficult to recruit paid on-call firefighters, he added.

Councilwoman Kathy Abdo said she had received calls from concerned residents, too.

"The railroad tracks are what people are worried about," she said. "Daily, they're blocked. Sometimes those tracks are blocked from downtown Romulus to Pennsylvania Road. I think there's a need for some type of fire protection on the west side of town."

Burcroff said the city would schedule a study session on the topic in the future.

Wadsworth reiterated later than he wanted to ensure that the safety of residents was ensured and that the proposal could not jeopardize fire or emergency medical services for the community.

Superintendent contract OK'd

Members of the Van Buren Schools Board of Education unanimously approved a three-year contract for new Superintendent of Schools Peter Kudlak on June 13.

Kudlak's base salary will be $130,000.

According to Trustee Sherry Frazier, Kudlak has already visited every school in the district and also visited and talked with personnel at the district office.

After the unanimous vote, Kudlak received a round of applause from the assembled audience at the regular board meeting.

Kudlak said that this was exciting for him and explained that he used the hour-long closed session prior to the meeting to talk to parents and teachers in the building, along with teachers and others in attendance at the meeting.

Following the vote, Frazier suggested that the district end the consulting agreement with former superintendent Michael Van Tassel who was fired in February. She said she thought that Kudlak was more than capable of handling the administration of the district and that the funds the district was paying Van Tassel as part of his separation agreement could be returned to the budget. She asked for a report on the amount being paid to Van Tassel and how much and with whom consulting is actually taking place.

District supports millage

Members of the Van Buren Public Schools Board of Education have unanimously supported a 6-year, 2-mill Nov. 8 ballot question.

Voters in Wayne County will be asked to approve an additional 2 mill levy for 2016 through 2021 to support local school districts which comprise the Regional Education Service Agency (RESA). The district does not include Detroit.

State law allows the levy of an "enhancement" property tax by an intermediate school district of up to 3 mills, if approved by a majority of the electors. The purpose of the funding is to augment other state and local taxes which fund school operating costs.

If approved, the tax would be collected by the county and then distributed to each of the 33 members of RESA on a student population basis.

Officials estimate that, if approved, the millage would generate about $2.8 million in tax revenue for RESA from the Van Buren School District. Based on the per-pupil formula, about $1.878 would be returned to the local district general fund which could be used for any operational or educational purpose.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP WATER QUALITY REPORT

Plymouth Township's Annual Water Quality Report is now available. The report describes the source and quality of your drinking water.

The annual report has been required by law since the U.S. Congress passed the 1996 Safe Drinking Act Amendments.

Most of the Detroit metro area, including Plymouth Township, receives its drinking water from the Detroit River. The Great Lakes Water Authority (formerly Detroit Water and Sewerage Department) operates the water treatment facilities and pumping stations that supply water to the Township, which operates the pipeline infrastructure and acts as the retailer to area businesses and residents.

The report is available at http://www.plymouthtwp.org/Community/PublicNoticeDocuments/WaterQualityReport2015.pdf. To receive a paper copy in the mail, please contact us at (734) 354-3270 x 5.
